1. The Communists of Rumania have put in effect a new method of ascertaining the friendly or hostile stand of persons holding positions in the Civil Service or State Enterprises.
2. These persons, especially those holding key positions, find on their desks or among official documents sent to them printed matter (proclamations) from the "resistance" with contents against the Regime and the Soviets. In reality, these proclamations are printed by the Secret Police, and "planted" on the desks.
3. When a person finds a copy of such printed matter on his desk and he does not report this to the "responsible" of the Civil Service or of the State Enterprises, after a few days he is called to give an explanation.
4. All the employees who are "discovered" (those who do not turn in the material) are considered enemies of the People and the Regime and they are either discharged or arrested.
